Explanation of Programs:

Piano students generally follow a grade level in Alfred, Bastien, Celebration Series or Faber and Faber from the beginner to late elementary levels of piano. Adult books are also available through Alfred and Bastien. Royal Conservatory of Music or B.C. Conservatory of Music, grades one through ten, are for students wishing to pursue classical repertoire, festivals and examinations. Supplemental studies in other styles are encouraged, and regular monthly workshops highlight these possibilities for students. For jazz studies, students generally use the Christopher Norton series, as well as books by Lee Evans.

Voice students use an RCM graded book along with supplemental studies in classical, jazz, Broadway, pop and gospel music. The repertoire in the song books includes a variety of styles set in several languages such as Italian, French, German, Spanish and Japanese, just to name just a few.

Theory RCM courses in all levels are taught on an individual basis or group classes when appropriate.
